Musical roots. Physical impact.

Shane V is an Austin-based DJ and producer moving through melodic techno, peak-time techno, and tech house. His sets take the crowd on a journey, balancing melody and physical weight with a feel for the room. His performance credits include Dancefestopia and direct support for Galantis, JOYHAUSER, and Marie Vaunt.

His musical foundation spans oboe, trumpet, and drumline, followed by guitar and drums in heavy metal bands. A Paul van Dyk show inspired his move into electronic production, beginning with trance and dubstep before evolving toward techno. After time away to prioritize family, returning to music meant reconnecting with a lifelong part of his identity. Audio-engineering training and experience in sound rentals and stage management inform both his productions and his approach to performing.
